TO REMOVE THE BUILDING.

Congressman Linney Trying to Take the Public Building to Winston.

A letter received here today from Congressman Kitchin conveys the information that a dead set is being made to have the public building removed from here to Winston.

Congressman Linney left notice on Congressman Kitchin's desk an hour before the hearing was to be had before the committee on public buildings and when Mr. Kitchin returned the hearing was already over. However, he has secured from the committee promise of a rehearing with five days notice and unless Greensboro wishes to loose the building citizens here should bestir themselves in the matter. Messrs. Buxton, Holton and others of Winston have gone on to Washington where they appeared before the committee and made argument in favor of Winston.

Citizens here are requested by Congressman Kitchin to collect data at once and forward to him or send on a committee armed with facts and arguments if they wish to retain the public building. This matter should be attended to at once.

There is absolutely no reason why the public building should be taken from here to Winston, but the move may be made for all that if only one side is presented.

From every point of view Greensboro is the more favorable location for the building and it should be easy to so convince the committee. Let steps be taken once in the matter.

A delegation should be sent to Washington to represent Greensboro before the committee.

NAVAL PERSONNEL BILL.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Washington, March 15—No doubt exists here in naval circles that congress will immediately comply with the president's request and pass the naval personnel bill. This bill provides that eighty-two naval cadets shall receive commissions immediately and also that the cadets who graduate in June shall be made ensigns.

A Speculator Shot.

By Wire To THE TELEGRAM.

Washington, March 15—D. Joseph Canty, a stock broker and the late partner of H. W. Vansenden, private secretary of Ex-Secretary Carlisle, shot and probably fatally wounded George Frye this morning in front of the Western Union building. Three shots were fired all of which took effect. Frye was a speculator. When arrested Canty had his bowie knife in his hand.

LATER.—Frye died before the arrival of the ambulance. Canty refused to talk. Van Senden was recently arrested on an indictment by the district attorney for fraud. The cases were nolle prosequied.

Evans Has Another Week.

John Evans, the condemned negro who is in confinement awaiting executive action, is not worrying about his fate. Evans does not look any the worse for his long confinement. He has been in Wake county jail since December last.

Unless the governor extends executive clemency Evans, who has been reprieved three times, will hang within one more week.

Evans was seen in the jail yesterday. The darkey talks in a stupefied manner. He is not uncommunicative at all. He still protests his innocence of the crime with which he is charged. Religion is the theme on which he converses mostly.—Raleigh Post.

There Will Be Others.

It appears that Guilford county will have two or more candidates for the judgeship. Mr. D. Schenck, Jr. will contest with Mr. Shaw the endorsement of the democracy of this county. Mr. Schenck is one of the most brilliant young lawyers of the state and would doubtless fill the ermine with honor to himself and satisfaction to the district. With two such excellent men to choose from Guilford should be sure of the nomination to which she is entitled. The county will doubtless go to the district convention a unit on some good man.

THE REPORT TO COME AT LAST

Spain Transfers The Scene of Her Brilliant Victories to The Philippine Islands.

Cable to THE TELEGRAM.

London, Mar. 15—The Pall Mall Gazette this afternoon publishes a dispatch from Rome which says there has been a recent exchange of communications between the Vatican and Spain regarding Cuba and the relations existing between Spain and the United States. The Pope is doing all his power to prevent hostilities, "which might be fatal to the Spanish dynasty."

The Vatican has especially exerted its influence at Washington and has tried directly and indirectly to dissuade the United States from plunging into a war with Spain.

SITUATION IN PHILLIPINE ISLANDS.

By Cable to THE TELEGRAM.

Madrid, March 15—According to an official dispatch received from Manilla, the capital of the Phillipine islands, today five hundred insurgents were killed during the siege of Balinas. The dispatch adds that the insurgent forces did not offer any resistance to the Spanish troops sent to the relief of the garrison.

THE EWART WAR CLOUD.

An Interview Returns to Trouble His Dreams.

A Washington special to the News and Observer of today says:

J. L. Garrett, of Kinston, will be examined tomorrow by the Senate Judiciary Committee about what he knows concerning the charges that have been filed against Judge Ewart. According to a report today the republican members of the Senate Judiciary committee are much displeased over what Judge Ewart said about the force bill some six years ago in an interview published in Asheville. His criticism of the republicans who advocated that monstrous measure is now brought up against him. So far as the other charges go the republican members of the judiciary committee it is said are disposed to let them pass as they have been fully met to their entire satisfaction.

It is said tonight that it is the little Sharp interview given out by Judge Ewart six years ago that endangers his nomination. However his friends hope that he will come out all right. Senatorial dignity is very sacred.

HORRIBLE DEATH.

A Young Boy Killed and Mangled by a Runaway.

Weldon, N. C., March 14—News of a distressing accident reaches here today from Enfield. Mr. Charles D. Mills was ploughing in a field Saturday. At 12 o'clock he took the horse from the plow, put his six-year-old son upon its back and started to dinner. The horse ran away throwing the child. The little boy's clothes were caught in the hook of the traces and he was dragged to death. The horse ran all the way to the house with the little mangled, bleeding remains. The distress of the parents can be better imagined than described. —News and Observer Special.

How Alger Would Do It.

The Portland Oregonian says in case of war the country will sadly need a secretary of war who possesses judgment, and that General Alger is not the man. Alger's locomotive sled and reindeer expedition schemes for Alaska are pointed to as evidence of his resources, or rather as want of them, in important emergencies. We presume in case of war, his first issue will be to contract for immense quantities of ice to be manufactured in Florida for use of the Army in Cuba.—Raleigh Post.

More Accurate Service in Greensboro Than Baltimore

Mr. C. M. Vanstory had his little girl's eyes examined in Baltimore last year and went with the prescription to one of the largest and best known optical houses there to have the glasses made up. FORTUNATELY one of the lenses got broken recently and was carried to the Greensboro Eye Specialist to be replaced. He saw at a glance that neither lens accorded with the prescription, and so changed them both. Mr. Vanstory sent the old lenses with an explanation to the occulist who had given the prescription and in reply received the following:

THE NATION'S RESOURCES.

For the benefit of those who may imagine that $50,000,000 is a big price to pay for peace or an augury of national bankruptcy if we are to have war the following estimate of national resources from the New York Sun is submitted:

The assessed valuation of real and personal property in the United States at the time of the Eleventh census was $25,473,173,418. This is an underestimate of the wealth of the nation in 1890, but the figures are sufficiently impressive.

Between 1880 and 1890 the total assessed valuation had increased from $17,189,903,495 to $25,473,173,418, and the assessed valuation in per capita had increased from $341.73 to $407.18. The most conservative estimate of the assessed valuation in 1898 will not fall below $30,000,000,000. The present valuation probably exceeds that sum by two billion of dollars.

What, then, is the emergency appropriation of $50,000,000, voted last week for the national defence, and now available for use by President McKinley?

It is a tax of less than one-sixth of one per cent upon the nation's resources.

Now, in matters merely of local improvement, not of national self-protection and self-preservation, an expenditure and an indebtedness up to 10 per cent. of total valuation are well within the limit of prudence set by financial experience.

Ten per cent. of thirty billion dollars is three thousand million dollars; and three thousand million dollars make sixty times the amount of the initial appropriation voted for defensive purposes last week by a patriotic Congress. The present interest-bearing national debt is $847,000,000. That is to say, Congress might go on appropriating $50,000,000 a week for every week during the rest of the year 1898 before it had imposed upon our national wealth a burden of bonded indebtedness corresponding to the limit set by the charter of New York upon bonding for local improvements.

While there is little danger of war appropriations being pushed to the ten per cent limit, it is comforting to know that the sinews are so abundant.

Elsewhere appears the annual report of the President of the Guilford Battle Ground Committee, containing much interesting information. It is pleasant to note how by degrees through the indefatigable exertions of Judge Schenck and his associates the Battle Ground has been beautified and steps taken to secure the preservation of this historic spot as a reminder to future generations of what, despite some contrary assertions of historians, was a glorious day for the state. We congratulate the promoters on what has been done already and wish them a success as continuous as it is deserved.

It develops that it is the record of Mr. Ewart in opposing the infamous force bill and not his lack of a "judicial mind" or good moral character that endangers his confirmation. Mr. Ewart should be content. For his record on that measure North Carolinians would forgive a few small kinks in his character.

Where is our town pride? Winstonians must go to little Greensboro to see a theatrical performance. Oh! the shame of it.—Winston Journal.

"Little Greensboro" is it? Greensboro ain't twins but it is a good many potatoes in a hill. The Journal should come down and be driven over the city.

We warn the Charlotte Observer that if it does it again there will go up such a howl for the Observer seven days out o' the week as will scare it out of its boots.

THE ANNUAL REPORT

Of the President of Guilford Battle Ground Company.

Greensboro, March 15, '98.

To the Stockholders of the Guilford Battle Ground Company:

The president of your company is pleased to say, as a matter of importance, that the Guilford Battle Ground Company is out debt again after passing through the trials which have environed it for the last two years, during which your president was not physically able to give the company the business care required to manage its affairs. We have some funds yet left which we will devote this year exclusively to the improvement and culture of the grounds and to needed repairs to its property.

MONUMENTS.

We have not been able to add any more monuments to the grounds since 1897, but the patriotic young gentlemen, students of Oak Ridge Institute, perhaps the best high school in the state, have signified to your president their intentions to erect on our grounds a handsome granite monument in memory of the Bugler Boy of Lee's Legion, who was so barbarously murdered by Tartleton's Dragoons about the 13th of February, 1781, near Oak Ridge. This is a noble purpose and our company will receive the monument with all the honor and praise which it so worthily deserves. We welcome this tribute of youthful patriotism, as indicating that the blood and spirit of the fathers of American Independence have descended upon their children. We need not be apprehensive of our future when the American youth have joined with us in our public spirited enterprise.

THE SOCIETY OF THE CINCINNATI,

which recently met in Raleigh, have also published their intention to erect a shaft upon our grounds in honor of General Francis Nash, killed at Germantown, and General Davidson, killed at Cowan's Ford, N. C. We have had no official notice of the same, as the society is not, perhaps, ready for the execution of their purpose. We shall give them hearty welcome to any place they may select on the Battle Field.

HUNTER MONUMENT.

Our enterprising and diligent director, Mr. Joseph M. Morehead, has also secured the promise of the to furnish a handsome monument to be erected on the Battle Field in memory of James Hunter, Regulator, a noble patriot, who was a leader in the first struggle for human liberty on this continent. His name and services were worthily portrayed by Mr. Morehead at our last celebration and the address, which contains much historical information, has been sought by many of the literary instructors of the Union. In fact, I am gratified to state that the historical contributions which we have made to North Carolina history have been sought by so many colleges and public libraries that we have scarcely a copy left. This indicates how useful, as well as patriotic, our unselfish exertions have been to the glory and honor of our dear old Commonwealth. We have done more to awaken this keen desire for historical information than any other socity or association in the state.

I am pleased to state that during the year I have received valuable donations of pipings for draining our roads and avenues, from the Pomona Terra Cotta Company, of which our generous director, Mr. John Van Lindley, is president. We have also received from Mr. John A. Young beautiful specimens of evergreens which have been planted on the grounds.

We have also realized, in our financial embarrassment, last year that we had friends who were able and willing to help us and wait with us until we were in better condition.

I have already begun prepartions to have a glorious celebration on the 4th July next. Our grounds are already in cleaner and prettier condition than ever before, and we are plowing and preparing much of our land to sow in oats and grass and improve it with fertilziers.

In looking over our prospects for the future they were never more hopeful or pleasing. Not only our own generous citizens are giving us much needed assistance, but the state has nobly stood by us, and there is a wide spread interest in our behalf over much of the nation.

We have had but one little misfortune; the dry winter has caused our well to go dry and we will be forced, I fear, to dig it deeper, an expense I hoped to avoid. This will not, however, retard our determined resolution to improve and adorn the Battle Field.

I cannot refrain from referring with pride and satisfaction to the excellent address delivered by Col. Joseph M. Morehead last July on the occasion of our annual celebration. We have long contendeded that the of North Carolina were the pioneers of liberty in the colonies, and that they were justified in resisting the extortionate taxes imposed upon them by Governor Tryon. It may be true that in their zeal and suffering, and chafed by a long catalogue of wrongs, there were excesses and mistakes in the conduct of some these oppressed people, but where has there ever been a struggle to the death for human liberty where these incidents have not occurred?

Col. Morehead has given diligent and thoughtful research to this most interesting period of the state's history and has collected and condensed the facts in regard to the Regulators in a most interestieg and forcible style, and deserves the thanks of the state for his unselfish efforts in her behalf. His address is entitled "James Hunter," around whose life and actions he has gathered most valuable information for the future historians of our state. This historian will appear on no distant day and demand the historical justice long due to the "Old North State."

We have laid "supinely on our backs" long enough and permitted her traducers and enemies to write or distort her history.

The day of awakening has come and the spirit of truth is pervading every citizen in the state and hundreds of intelligent citizens are unearthing historical facts long lost in oblivion. We have been forerunners and powerful factors in this uprising and we must continue to keep apace with their noble spirit in the land. Let no individual or association excel us in our devotion to our fatherland.

We are indebted to our distinguished stockholder, Lieutenant-Governor Stedman, for a most scholarly and classical address on "The Dedication of Schenck Museum."

Gov. Stedman was among our earliest and most liberal members and we are proud that he has come to live among us and adorn our society. We tender him our sincere welcome and congratulations.

To Prof. Weatherly we acknowledge our thanks for his most ornate and appropriate address on the presentation of the portrait of John Penn.

Prof. Weatherly, though a fine master of language, excelled himself on this occasion. His address was listened to with delight by his appreciative audience.

A PORTRAIT OF JOHN PENN

was presented to the Company last year, as the annual gift of our generous fellow citizen and devoted stockholder, David L. Clark, the artist, who has done so much to adorn our Museum with rare gifts and pictures. He has identified his name with our noble enterprise every year by these valuable donations. While rolling years have passed him by and "his head is white with the frosts that never melt" his almost superhuman strength is but little impaired. He handles the brush yet with all the vigor and enthusiasm of youth and his heart kindles with patriotism at our celebration as he comes promptly, annually with his gift upon the altar of his country.

David L. Clark will be an honored name as long as the Company is remembered in the land.

THE HOOPER-PENN MONUMENT

was dedicated also at our last celebration though it had been erected for some time before. Your president was at this time too sick to attend the celebration in person, but was with it in heart and spirit.

This monument, among the most imposing on our grounds, stands in front of the lodge and in full view of the C. F. & Y. V. railroad and the public highway which runs hard by and can be seen by every traveller who passes through our grounds.

The remains of William Hooper and John Penn, signers of the Declaration of Indepence, now lie under this granite tribute to their beloved memories and is surmounted by a statue of William Hooper whom the elder Adams counted as the equal of Patrick Henry and Lee as the orators of the Colonial Congress.

We would have collected the remains of Joseph Hewes their compatriot but its identity was lost in Christ church, Philadelphia, where he was buried. His name is however dear to the Old North State as an able, honest and wise legislator. By the generosity of David L. Clark we have a fine portrait of him in our museum.

We have found in Mr. George L. Jones a most industrious and careful keeper of our grounds, he has been honest and faithful in all his duties and I recommend that he be retained as long as possible. I have entire confidence in him.

NEXT ORATOR.

It is our duty at this meeting to discuss the person who shall deliver our next annual address. I hope it will fall to the lot of some one who will add interest to the occasion.

Our efficient and faithful Treasurer Mr. J. W. Scott will make to you our financial exhibit which will show, to my delight, that we owe no man anything. Very Respectfully,

D. Schenck,
President Guilford Battle Ground Co.

Vick's Little Liver Pills are best for adult or child. 25 cents. All druggists.

Something to Depend On.

Mr. James Jones, of the drug firm of Jones & Son, Cowden, Ill., in speaking of Dr. King's New Discouery, says that last winter his wife was attacked with la grippe, and her case grew so serious that physicians at Cowden and Pana could do nothing for her. It seemed to develop into hasty consumption. Having Dr. King's New Discovery in store, and selling lots of it, he took a bottle home, and to the surprise of all she began to get better from first dose, and half dozen dollar bottles cured her sound and well. Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds is guaranteed to do this good work. Try it. Free trial bottles at C. E. Holton's drug store.

Tonsilitis Tonsilitis

Tonsilitis Can Be Cured. Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy will do it.

Eagle, Iredell Co., N. C., December 10, 1897.

For a long time my son was troubled with some bronchial trouble which, every time he took cotd, settled in his throat and produced something like tonsilitis. The tonsils would enlarge and swell so that he had great trouble to swallow anything and could take no solid food. Last spring he took one-half dozen bottles of Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy, and gargled with the Wash, and it cured him. He has not had a spell since.

The Lamp that lights the way to Good Health is a bottle of the greatest of all blood purifiers—

Johnston's Sarsaparilla

QUART BOTTLES.

This great blood purifier and nerve tonic, cures diseases by removing from the system, the conditions which produce them. It expels all poison and impurity from the blood. It acts upon the nerves as a stimulant, particularly upon those nerves belonging to the great organs of the body; therefore, it causes the heart to beat with greater force, the lungs to take in more oxygen and to expel more carbonic acid; it induces the kidneys to send off more of the poisonous excretions from the blood; the bowels to have more regularity and healthfulness in their action; the sweat glands to throw out more impurities.

Our Illustrated book of 36 pages will tell you what is the matter and what to do. Its free for the asking. Quart bottle, $1.00.

WHAT SHE MOST RESENTED.

She Could Readily Forgive and Forget Most Anything but This.

She swept into the office of the manager with cyclonic perturbation. Anybody could see from the haughty superiority of her manner that if she was not yet a star she fully intended to be one. In her hand was a newspaper, which she laid on the desk before the manager.

"Now, really, Miss Frostleigh," he said somewhat impatiently, "I am not responsible for what appears in the newspapers about you. I can't do anything more than say I am sorry you should have any troubles. That's all anybody does for me when I get into debt."

"Have you read that cruel article about my husband applying for a divorce?"

"Yes—that is to say, I glanced over the headlines."

"You can at least tell me where I can find the editor."

"Now, take my advice and keep away. It won't do you the least bit of good."

"But don't you think I have a right to complain?"

"Of course. It was too bad. I have no doubt it was a base calumny to say you cut his allowance down to $12 a week."

"I could have borne that," she murmured.

"And I can understand it was very annoying to have it said that you put him out of a cab one night and made him walk three miles to the depot."

"That was not the cruelest part of it, though."

"And it was naturally embarrassing to have it asserted in cold type that in a fit of jealous pique you knocked him down and then jumped on him."

"Do you think the papers in all of the cities printed that?" she inquired.

"In all probability they did. I'm sorry for the worry it must cause you."

"That wasn't all!" she exclaimed.

"I know. What you refer to is the insinuation that he is your seventh husband."

"That isn't the worst either," she said, with a heartbreaking sob. "They spelled my name wrong!"—Detroit Free Press.

WARTIME RECOLLECTIONS.

The Old Soldier Tells of His Going Away and of His Home Coming.

"My last recollection of the camp in which we were mustered in," said the old soldier, "was of my mother. We had been in camp for days, for weeks, in fact, filling up the regiment and drilling and getting equipped, and getting ready generally. Finally we were mustered in, and the next day after that we started.

"It was nightfall when we fell in for the last time in the company streets of our first camp and marched out and formed on the color line. There was a great crowd there, relatives and friends and sightseers come to see the regiment off. In front of my own company I could see my father and mother, come to see the last of their boy before he went to war. I was the apple of my mother's eye. I knew that, and I had expected to see her break down completely when the regiment marched away, but she stood as firm as a rock.

"When the regiment came home, we marched up through the same street that we had marched down years before—night again, it was, too—with a band of music, with fireworks flying everywhere, and with crowds on the sidewalk cheering, to the town hall, where there was a banquet, with a speech from the mayor, and so on. When this was nearly over, my father and my brother, who had come to meet me, went home to tell my mother I was coming.

"Home was half a mile or more away. A bunch of us, men of the regiment, started from the hall together. They fell off one after another, until finally I went on alone along the familiar street. It was bright moonlight. Far ahead, at the corner of the street down which I must turn for home, I saw her. She was waiting.

"When I had come to her, she lifted up her hands and pronounced my name, that was all, and then her arms were about my neck, and my old blue overcoat was wet with her falling tears. Her son had come home."—New York Sun.

The Bulldog a Good Dog.

No member of the canine family has been more persistently maligned than the bulldog. Writers who have no intimate knowledge of the dog and his attributes have described him as stupidly ferocious, and illustrators have pictured him as a sort of semiwild beast, till the general public has come to look upon him as dangerous.

"Give a dog a bad name," is an old saw, and perhaps a true one, but when it is applied to the bulldog it is manifestly unjust. Writers, too, have fallen into grave error in claiming that the bulldog is deficient not only in affection, but in intelligence.

Stonehenge, who is considered one of the greatest of canine scientists, claims that the bulldog's brain is relatively larger than that of the spaniel, which dog is generally considered to be the most intelligent of the canine race, while the bulldog's affection is never to be doubted.—Outing.

Mr. W. C. Bain, of this city was a bidder, his bid being $25,257, but the lowest being $21,900, by J. D. Elliott, of Hickory, that gentleman was awarded the contract. The new building is to be four stories high and must be completed by October 1.

Yellow Pine, 50 cents, is the cheapest because it cures coughs. All druggists.

SPARTACUS.

The Audience Was More Than Pleased With the James Company.

Mr. Louis James makes a great Spartacus. Nature has been kind to him in that role and has furnished him his "make up" ready to hand with the exception of his armor. His acting was so excellent as to elicit repeated applause. Nor was Mr. Barry Johnstone as Pharsarius unworthy of the star. Indeed it is not too much to say that in some particulars his acting was everywhit as good as that of Mr. James and his death scene was perhaps even better. He was however somewhat uneven and there were one or two scenes where he was not up to his own standard.

Collin Kemper as Crassius was also a favorite and was responsible for almost the only bit of comedy in the whole play. Mrs. Wells as Sonona and Miss Mary Emerson as Julia, were, in the main, very good

The company, without particularising further, is excellent throughout and the rendition of Spartacus was a treat. In a play of that sort the stage setting necessarily adds much to the verisimilitude and it was impossible to use the scenery on the Academy stage.

The attendance was good, but not what the company deserved. Every seat should have been taken.

Of the play Spartacus the very just criticism may be made that there is too much tragedy; it palls a bit before the end. A gleam of comedy here and there would improve the general effect.
